Compulsory REVISION comments	The topic of the article «Effect of girls menstruation cycles on sustainable attendance a study of Myomero District District» is very actual. The purposive sampling and simple random sampling methods were used in the determining the sample size of the study. Observance of menstrual hygiene for teenage girls is an important aspect of maintaining their reproductive health. And this is an important element for the health of the nation. Therefore, government programs on teaching teenage girls the basics of hygiene and providing the necessary sanitary conditions for this is a very important aspect for preserving the health of the nation.
Minor REVISION comments	I would advise in the future to include in the questionnaire questions related to the presence of gynecological complaints in girls. I would advise such patients to be consulted immediately by pediatric obstetrician-gynecologist and, if necessary, undergo an ultrasound of the pelvic organs. It is also advisable to increase the sample of patients.
