Compulsory REVISION comments	The experiment reported in the manuscript is relevant to the aims and scope of IJECC, however, the materials and method for this experiment are insufficiently described, leaving out pertinent details. For example, there is no evidence that experiments were conducted at least two trials. As presented, the authors only conducted one trial of the experiment, so I suggest another trial to check the authenticity of the experiment. Further, In addition, I strongly suggest the authors submit the revised manuscript to a service that will review the English before it is resubmit as there are grammatical and typographical errors all throughout, which will need to be corrected before it is considered for publication.
