Minor REVISION comments	In table 3 there are minor inaccuracies in the calculations. n=85, Total in table 28+43+15=86 %= 100 % - 89,9
Optional/General comments	I thank the authors for their contribution to science. The text is interesting and is written in a clear and logical manner. I propose to add to the theory the research described in: Arthur James Swart, Kobus Lombard & Henk de Jager (2010) Exploring the relationship between time management skills and the academic achievement of African engineering students - a case study, European Journal of Engineering Education, 35:1, 79-89, DOI: 10.1080/03043790903480316 Methodological section presented as required. The tables are clear. In paragraph 3.3 It is possible to supplement the reflection with information from the article: Turgut Karakose (2015) The Relationship between Medical Students' Time Management Skills and Academic Achievement, Studies on Ethno-Medicine, 9:1, 19-24, DOI: 10.1080/09735070.2015.11905418 Quote from the abstract: „Based on the results of the research conducted on medical students, the students can be said to score moderately on time management. In addition, female students were demonstrated to be more successful than male students on time management." In Chapter 4 It is worth pointing out the limitations of the research. The recommendations made are thoughtful and worth developing in further research.
