Compulsory REVISION comments	In case I, it was not informed how long after the trauma. The title indicates a correlation between times of early and late intervention, but only case II indicated the time, and in both cases an emergency surgery was described. Need to change the title to be in accordance with the case report. I suggest: "The importance of early intervention for penile fracture in forced flexion - report of two cases at Madinat Zayed hospital" It should be taken from the conclusion: "Even in delayed cases, the surgery can be easily performed with little morbidity." This was not analyzed in the case report.
Minor REVISION comments	None.
Optional/General comments	Case report of importance for students and researchers, which should be widely disseminated as sex education for the population.
