

Editor's Comment:

The author has made a good attempt at predicting the performance of students using a deep learning approach. The author has made revisions as per the peer review reports. The author is required to look into the following:

1. The title of the paper can be revised to be more suitable.
2. The paper is to be checked for spelling mistakes for eg title of section III
3. There are grammatical errors in most of the sentences. Kindly look into it to improve readability and to improve the quality of paper.

The paper can be accepted after these points are looked into.
