Compulsory REVISION comments	The manuscript “Anatomic leaf structure of 'Sunrise Solo' and 'Golden THB' papaya plants” has a great scientific impact in agricultural as well as Plant Science aspects. The experimental design was wisely chosen. Authors had conducted the experiment using appropriate plant anatomical parameters. Results were perfectly explained with appropriate microscopic diagram. Literature surveys done by the authors are also appropriate and recent and well justified. The manuscript is meaningfully & lucidly well written, scientifically robust, well referenced and technically sound and free from plagiarisms. Hence as a reviewer I am recommending accepting the manuscript as it is.
