Optional/General comments	Manuscript entitled " Monitoring of Pesticide Multi Residues in Selected Cereals Crop Grains in United Arab Emirates " was conducted to monitor pesticide residues in various cereals (corn, oats, rice, barley, sorghum and wheat) imported into the UAE as part of official surveillance. A total of 1,440 samples were collected during 2020 and 2021 using Modified QuEChERS. It was based on the considered international references regarding the quality of the pesticides detection as well as accreditation according to ISO 17025. Consequently the results was presented in accordance with quality policies. The manuscript totally is very interesting and presented in a good manner I suggest if the authors could add figures for some examples of calibration curves for positively detected pesticides as well as TIC chromatogram Some pesticides were detected in a concentration above the highest calibration point. How did you deal with this point? I didn't catch it in the manuscript
