

Editor's Comment:

A very interesting paper promoting biomedical research in cancer. The authors made various improvements as suggested by the reviewers but not much in language.

Authors may not have English as their first language so they need someone proficient in English to make major corrections to the Manuscript.

Authors should seek help by a professional and re-write the conclusions since this small section is not clear to the reader.

My editorial decision is that this paper can be accepted if authors correct language as suggested.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Evangelos Marinos
Professor, University of Athens, School of Medicine, Laboratory of Biology, Athens, Greece.