Compulsory REVISION comments	In general, the manuscript is easy to follow and can contribute to new knowledge regarding product development of chakli. Standard methodology was mostly used. However, the number of panels for sensory evaluation was too low. In terms of data analysis, it would be better if the statistical analysis of variance was used to show any significant difference among samples. The description of result and the discussion part for proximate analysis were just repetitions of the values in the table. The author should have included some discussion based on the results.
Minor REVISION comments	The methodology should never be in the form of instruction.
