| Compulsory REVISION comments | The review entitled The Role of CRISPR/Cas9 for Soybean Genetic Advancement. deals with the application of CRISPRcas9 tools to solve problems caused in the soybean crop, as well as its use to increase oil and protein synthesis in this crop. Soy. also addresses the trends of the new challenges for soy production on the planet, including the main diseases to be faced and possible solutions with the CRISPRcas9 tool. therefore, I think this information is very relevant at this point, we are talking about a technique that has been recently developed and very important for the future. Regarding the writing of this review, I encourage the authors to make a careful review of the text, especially with regard to the grammatical part, but in general the text is well written, requiring only linguistic refinement. | |
| Minor REVISION comments | Language need to be revisited Check author guidelines Use more recent references | |
