

Editor's Comment:

I have read it thoroughly and I think from beginning to the end, the writing style and language are very weak and a total re-writing of this manuscript is necessary. The introduction and discussion sections lack good references as pointed out by the reviewers. Some references are missing (for example, Da Saliva (2020) is cited in the main paper, but was missing in the reference section. The methodology is not clear as to how and why the sample was chosen. The results could be displayed in a single table instead of dividing into different ones. The conclusion starts with 'He'. I could go on, but I think that would not be necessary.

The other issue is the authors MUST use track changes which I did not find. Therefore , I suggest rewriting the whole paper and resubmit it after some time.
