Compulsory REVISION comments	Article accepted with little reservation, a relevant subject.
Minor REVISION comments	After analysing the article, it is noted that in item 2.1, of the material and methods, it is described that (EST cells were implanted subcutaneously inside the animal's left thigh...). In item 3.1 EST Morphology, the author describes that the inoculation os EST cells, was performed on the left thigh. Therefore, I suggest that the correct description be made in item 3.1, EST Morphology, for the left thigh, and not the right one as shown in the current article.
