

Editor's Comment:

The authors have implemented most of the reviewers' recommendations but issues remain that should be resolved before accepting the manuscript for publication.

1. The discussion states that "indomethacin-induced chronic ulceration results in chronic oxidation." I think the term chronic is inappropriate because the drug was administered four hours before the sacrifice of the animals.
2. Typographical errors and incomplete data persist in the bibliography.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Juan Carlos Martín del Olmo
Medina del Campo Hospital, Valladolid, Spain.