Compulsory REVISION comments	The manuscript shows interesting paper from a research initially thought to assess the resource use efficiency in the cultivation of rice variety, Telangana Sona., I think this paper can be of high interest for many scientists. English is suggested to be polished by English-native people and edited as well. And There are several major aspects that absolutely need addressing as abstract, data analysis with statistical testing, and further minor revisions to do in introduction and results section. I hope that my comments help strengthen this worthy work as attached in Ms_AJAEES_92521 doc.
