

Editor's Comment:

With respect to the opinions of the honorable reviewers... in my opinion, considering the following points, this article is not acceptable

1. It is very brief
2. It does not have coherent materials and methods
3. The references review section or references review(introduction) is not well reviewed at all
4. The obtained results have not been compared with other up-to-date results in the world, so that the user can be more sure of the correctness of the results.
5. The conclusion is not well stated
6. The resources used are very limited and old

Finally, considering that our goal of this magazine is to improve the quality level of the neighborhood, we need more weighty articles to help improve the quality of the magazine, which, God willing, will be realized with more precision of colleagues in the near future.
