Compulsory REVISION comments	Converting the essential oils to nanoemulsion form is a good idea, but the subject is not so new. Furthermore, there is no information about the droplet size and polydispersity index of the prepared system. So, it cannot be understood that if the prepared system is a nanoemulsion with nano-sized oil droplets or not, although this measurement is one of the main studies of forming a nanoemulsion. Besides, I am sorry about that; spelling of the text is so sloppy. I expected it to be more attentive. There are lots of errors in the text; the correct ones are explained using sticky notes.
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	The idea is good, but the mistakes and the missing information in the text should be corrected.
