Compulsory REVISION comments	The authors are to be congratulated; the research addresses a very interesting subject. Overall the article is simple and very clear. However, it needs to be revised in relation to the level of English and also due to typographical errors that it presents. Finally, the references need to be standardized, and only one reference is current; it would be interesting to present more recent works to show the importance of the proposed work.
Minor REVISION comments
Optional/General comments	It would also be very interesting for the authors to present images that describe the proposed uses for the applications of fish waste.
