Compulsory REVISION comments	In the title, the author mentioned a supply chain. His sample does not include any aspect of the food supply chain at all; he only collected samples from the marketplace. So the judgment will be either the title is misleading or the methodology came up short in terms of data representation. I recommend that the author changes the title, omit the part (supply chain), and only proceed with the sample presented in the methodology. The manuscript requires proofreading The tables and figures are not cross-referenced within the manuscript. I can't understand the study's significance and purpose since the author did not provide its importance. What does the study aim to add to the field, and why is it essential to the consumer? Is the danger arise from eating the fruits or drinking ready-made juice? What are the general reader benefits from this study?
