Optional/General comments	Generally, the manuscript is good and meets the scope of the journal. The design methodology and results are easy to understand and contribute to existing knowledge. The developed technique made is short of an extensive literature review. I suggest authors improve the literature review and add more references to the list. There are grammatical errors in the manuscript which need to be corrected. The figures and tables presented were not discussed and juxtaposed to other related research work done to warrant the relevance.
