| although a logical and very well structured introduction, the methodology section should be re-organized. A qualitative study follows a rigorous process (clarification of search strategy, inclusion and exclusion criteria, how data was collected, analyzed and coded; how many researchers were in the codification process, reliability and validity of data). Further, the conclusion should not repeat the same sentences, but sum up the main ideas, as well some limitations and recommendations for practice and/or research. | Thank you so much for your wonderful observation and comments. We have revised the areas pointed out. Our warmest regards |
