

Editor's Comment:

The revised version of the manuscript takes good account of some suggestions of the Reviewers, and is of some informative interest.

Some additional modifications are required, however, before the revised version be acceptable for publication in IJECC, namely:

the annual trend for number of publications on the subject ("Figure 2") should, of course, not include the present year 2023, which is far from being finished ; thus preventing misleading impression when looking at this Figure;

as suggested by Reviewers, the key words should not include words of the title : please make effort, in your own interest, to propose a few other words which enlighten the specificity of your study, beyond what id expressed in the title itself.
