

Editor's Comment:

I've read the reviews and the revisions and in order to have the most professional article appear in the journal, I would request the following prior to publication... 1) add Brazil at the end of the title since where Paraiso Do Tocantins is not widely known and this was suggested by a reviewer but advice not taken by authors; 2) please ask the authors to re-review the in text suggestions from Reviewer Ayo_A and Reviewer WiW_A... these two reviewers invested a great deal of time adding in text comments and the authors have only responded with "noted" which is not as robust as we'd like so one more revision taking the comments seriously from the reviewers by the authors would be needed and 3) the journal has to do an "English" review and edit since there are grammatical errors for example "aimeds" for aims and "These results show promising results that establish parameters to measure the quality of life of these people suffering from post-COVID-19 fatigue that in accordance with results similar to other literatures,..." which is awkward wording... for example, "this study's results may help establish..." and I think its "other literature" not other literatures"....
