

Editor's Comment:

I have gone through the revised manuscript and all the suggestions given by the peer reviewers have been taken into consideration. I would suggest a very few minor revisions to further enhance the quality of the manuscript.

"Left side face pain could be better written as " Pain in the left side of the face.

And was there any family history of impacted teeth or ectopic eruption of teeth or any development anomalies?

These points could be added and the manuscript could be submitted after these very minor corrections.

On the whole the article is worth publishing and is well written.
