(Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	The presented to me for review study assesses the anti-anxiety potential activity and acute toxicity of leaf extracts of B. pinnatum, T. catappa and T dodneifolius growing on T. tree. Given the need to discover new agents to complement traditional benzodiazepine- and serotonin-related drugs, this preliminary study is of interest to the scientific community. The authors claim that the use of these medicinal plant extracts is suitable for the treatment of nervous and related disorders. In my opinion, this is preliminary research, and I will join their view in concluding that further investigation of the present findings is needed. The title of the article is suitable. The article's abstract is comprehensive. The structure of the manuscript is appropriate. The manuscript is scientifically correct. The references are sufficient and recent. The article is suitable for publication after minor correction.
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	Yes
