

Editor's Comment:

In my opinion, despite three practically positive reviews, the manuscript 2023/AJFRN/102611 should not be accepted for publication for several reasons:

- fragments of the manuscript are composed of sentence equivalents and do not form a single text,
- the methodology used is incomplete, it is not known how the drinks were prepared and it is not fully known how their sensory properties were characterized,
- the entire description of the results is one long sentence, and instead of the results, a table with statistical parameters is presented, which do not show much,
- the whole discussion is two sentences, without any references to literature data,
- without seeing the results, it is difficult to verify the conclusions.
