

Editor's Comment:

The Paper is interesting and it will provide good baseline for future research in pharmaceutical studies Article is comprehensive but it need numerical key outcomes of the study and its future perspectives, revise and add relevant data.

The Introduction part is too scarcity and it needs rationale of study and hypothesis on which research was based on. Also add key issues of the problem taken out for research and its comparison with other relevant field study. There need add more sections in this part.

It has ethical issue as involves the Human study, (2) methodology section missing, (3) Not sound on this data basis.

There should be more references in the paper, add more

English spelling, grammar and other formatting issues in the paper

Paper is interesting but it has ethical issues and also method of study is not reliable and it needs proper mechanism of study and its replication should be seen. English is very poor.

Final Recommendations: Major Revisions
