

Editor's Comment:

I must agree with the two of reviewers, that the references are very historical, there is only one reference from 2022 and only 5 references not older than 15 years!

The topic, on my opinion is researched also in recent years. Authors do not need to omit the older references (as is their answer) but they should show the relevance of this research topic by including the recent publications, as well.

So I suggest to do this before the publication.
