I enjoyed reviewing your manuscript and I'm happy with the changes that have been made based on the suggestions of the reviewers. However, I find that nowhere in the discussion section did, the authors discuss the mechanism behind atrioventricular block. Cardiac myxomas are benign, slowly proliferating tumors that do not penetrate the myocardium so it will be prudent on the part of authors to provide an explanation for the atrioventricular conduction block with this non-infiltrative tumor mass. Once that explanation is included, the manuscript will be ready to be accepted for publication.
