

Editor's Comment:

Despite the positive reviews, in my opinion the manuscript still requires corrections and greater involvement of the authors, below are my comments:

- Abstract - the authors should clearly indicate that not rice but a dish based on rice and termites was sensory assessed,
- what does "Source of Table" mean? under tables?
- citations - should be checked and corrected, only surnames are given in the text, without names or their initials,
- material - country of origin should be provided,
- Table 2 - the sum of nutrients should be approximately 100%, the results are given in table 2 where the sums in the rows for individual samples are: 153.26; 15.02; and 74.72% make no sense and have no justification, please perform the appropriate calculations again,,
- Table 4 - there is no justification for using four different units for vitamin content, this content should be expressed in one unit, e.g. mg/100 g as in the abstract,
- references - all references are missing volume numbers and page ranges,
