The author's work is unique using PCA to categorise Biochemical composition of Moringa thus there is need to show more results as given by the analysis. The different accessions used in the study needs to be grouped into the contributing parts to the PCs to know the accessions with the characters. This would have been generated by the Principal Component Analysis results thus check and bring out this table to have a better presentation. Adequate interpretations should be given regarding breakdown of the different characters measured as divided into components.
