Cultivating millets not only offers a viable solution by diminishing reliance on synthetic fertilizers and pesticides, but also facilitates a transition towards sustainable agriculture. This involves diversifying crop rotation and steering clear of the pitfalls associated with monocropping systems. Food security can be significantly improved by introducing different types of millet into cropping systems. Based on the above, I believe that this research topic is relevant and should be further developed by the authors. 2. Don't you think some of the phrases in the title would better convey the theme of the study? I suggest you consider these options: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• «Millets: a superior solution to food security challenges compared to cereal-based cropping systems in India»;</li> <li>• «Millets: an advantageous solution to food security challenges over cereal-based cropping systems in India».</li> </ul> 3. As a reviewer, my opinion is that the abstract is quite comprehensive in the context of a short research article. 4. My opinion is that the article is structured quite correctly, however, it would be worth making corrections (I have highlighted all the significant points also directly in the manuscript, please pay attention to this). <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Remove the hyphen after the word "abstract", as well as after the names of subsections 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10;</li> <li>2. Please work on the correct design of drawings, tables and diagrams</li> </ol> 5. Yes 6. Yes
