The persimmon is a little known fruit tree, so a review helps to have specific knowledge about this species to be able to cultivate it at a commercial level. Yes. However, the authors must write in italics the genus "Diospyros" in both the title and the text of the manuscript. Yes The subsections and the manuscript's structure are adequate; however, there is one subsection with no title that should be incorporated. Yes There is one sentence that needs a reference, but in general the information contained in the review is supported. I think that if possible, it is convenient to add more recent bibliographic sources. The keywords are not appropriate, and I suggest changing them. For example, "deciduous" to "deciduous fruit trees" or "deciduous trees" The word "persimmon" should be removed since it appears in the title. It is advisable to change the other keywords as well. Scientific names should be written in italics Reference format should be standardized
Minor REVISION comments <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications? 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Manuscript needs professional English language review
