Minor REVISION comments	Inconsistencies are observed in the wording that give the appearance that there is no logical follow-up of the paper. Syntax errors, omission/error in capitalization in some cases and lack of homogenization in the placement of references are observed. Check grammar and sentence formation. You have some problems with spaces between words I suggest an exhaustive revision of the writing of the paper to correct the errors previously described. Yellow tinted texts should be considered for correction. Abstract. Integrate Place and Duration of Study to Methodology. Picture is Figure. Italic. First letter should be in capital. Check the abbreviations that are placed in the manuscript, since they are not described. ACRONYMS when first cited in the academic text, must be preceded by their full names and must also be avoided in abstracts. Each abbreviation should be spelled out and introduced in parentheses the first time it is used in the text. Use acronyms correctly. References. Please check the citations with the reference and references list. I recommend reading and following the instructions for authors and take as a model articles published in JEAI. There are several mistakes that I remarked in the document.
