

Editor's Comment:

There are many writing mistakes in the manuscript. I attached the file with my marked corrections. Also, the references were not written in the same style both in the text and the references section. References are missing in most places in the text. The authors must give the scientific names of the species in italics. The map needs an scale. In this situation I can't accept the manuscript for publication. The author should correct all of the grammatical mistakes.
