We have carefully addressed each comment: We have implemented the reviewers' suggestions and made significant improvements to the manuscript. The statistical analysis of the MANOVA has found significant effects and interactions, which are not shown in the figures. These differences should be presented there. Due to limitations in visual representation and space constraints, we were unable to add these differences to the figures. Instead, we have included a comprehensive table (Table 1) that provides detailed information on the significant effects, interactions, and variances. We have revised the manuscript to include the scientific name of the plant in its first mention. We believe these revisions address the concerns raised by the editor and improve the manuscript. Thank you for your valuable feedback.
