Minor revision:

Use newer sources

What is your base model?

The research method is very simple, it would be better if you used more recent days, but still mention the reason for choosing your method.

Mention a practical suggestion to improve the current situation

What were the limitations of your research?

Reviewer's comment :

However, it seems that the study is based on opinions and perceptions of the respondents. So, it is a non-critical and very conventional inquiry though proper statistical procedures are adopted. Some indicative questions used for the interviews could have been added to show how the responses were collected.

The language used are simple and suitable. However, the author must correct the grammar mistakes. There are lots of grammatical mistakes are there.
