

Editor's Comment:

The subject of the manuscript is practical concern.

Yet, the Authors have not took any account of the main relevant recommendations of both the Editorial Office and the Reviewers.

Accordingly, the "revised" version of the manuscript – as it is - cannot be accepted for publication in IJECC.

Now, if Authors nevertheless wish to improve their manuscript, then two possible solutions remain:

to comply with the Editorial Office requirement would possibly make the manuscript re-submitted, but only under the mention "Technical Note" (since the absence of statistical treatment allowing to conclude on statistical significance deprives this work of the minimum standard for being considered as a true Research article;

to add also a relevant statistical treatment would allow to re-submit the manuscript under the qualification of Original Research.
