

Editor's Comment:

I carefully read the submitted files and the original article, which were promptly responded to the reviewers' suggestions. In fact, I also found flaws in the original, such as non-described methodologies, general abstract, confusing graphics.

My opinion is that this is a relevant article for the health area and therefore it should be accepted for publication, since the authors followed the reviewers' suggestions and it is within the scope of the journal. My grade would be 7.5.
