It provides more understanding on the post-COVID-19 illness, which is commonly observed at the present time. The title: "Long-COVID Chronic Fatigue Brings Light to Post Viral Conditions – a Case Report" is not suitable. The term "bring light" means "discover", "reveal" or "make known". The "fatigue symptom" itself does not "discover" any new finding. Revision of the title should be made, for example: "Long-COVID Chronic Fatigue Conditions – a Case Report" or "Some Etiological Findings on Long-COVID Chronic Fatigue Conditions – a Case Report" Yes. However, attention should be paid on the tense used. The description on the case should be in past tense. Not really. Revision should be made as follow: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>A new heading "Case Report" should be added after the "Introduction" section; and all of the following headings should be put under this "Case Report" section: Patient Information, Case History, Clinical Findings, Therapeutic Interventions, and Outcomes.</li> <li>There should be no citation in this "Case Report" section because all description is for the case. Most of the explanation in the "Therapeutic Interventions" sub-section is on the rationale behind the treatment which should be moved to the "Discussion" section.</li> <li>The figures presented in the black circles are not easily understood. Other form of presentation should be used (such as the name of the months – like August). If the dates covered over a calendar year, the year of treatment should also be specified.</li> </ol> Yes. Yes. However, the format of some references should be checked by the Editor.
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	Acceptable. Attention should be paid on the use of tense. Description relating to the Case should be in past tense.
