

Editor's Comment:

I recommend to publish the paper in the final revised form. The reasons are as follows:

- 1- One of reviewers gives comment such as "the manuscript is very important for scientific community and for students "
- 2- One of reviewers gives comment such as "the manuscript is important for scientific community because it addresses important scientific issues"
- 3- All reviewers give Accept after minor revision.

According to the comments, the authors have corrected the paper carefully.

Therefore, the paper has enough value for publication in the International Astronomy and Astrophysics Research Journal.
