

Editor's Comment:

Thank you for forwarding this paper to me for review. This manuscript is not an original paper. It misses all the elements of the original academic research, such as the methodology, the structured findings, and the discussion of the findings through the lens of previous literature. The author addresses no academic sources, which means the paper is not a review of the literature. The manuscript is rather a brief communication that addresses a rather narrow topic of inflation in the US. Therefore, this paper can not be accepted as an original article.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Vasilii Erokhin
School of Economics and Management, Harbin Engineering University, China.