Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The quality of English is poor and needs major corrections.
Optional/General comments	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Grammatical, punctuation and spacing errors in the commentary are highlighted throughout the manuscript. The word lacunae need not be in italics and needs to be corrected throughout the manuscript. The sentence "In this commentary, I examine the role of the new Act on herbal and alternative medicinal products in the Gambia" can be re-written as "In this commentary, the role of the new Act on herbal and alternative medicinal products in the Gambia has been discussed with respect to the product regulations." The objectives in the introduction part of the commentary requires major revision by realigning the areas of interest concerning the article. Lines of abstract and introduction seem to be similar (plagiarized) and require correction. The methods section needs a major modification with a proper protocol of the literature search. The discussion part of the article is irrelevant to the aim of the article. Various definitions have been mentioned which are not required. The authors are requested to stick to the literature which is specific to the aim of the study. Hence, I would suggest that the discussion requires major revision with more elaboration on previous studies, explanation of the relevant act. Limitations, shortcomings and the advantages of the new act in the commentary are to be highlighted. The conclusion part of the commentary requires revisal and elaboration
