Anemia in neonates is a very common and pertinent issue which needs to be identified and tackled. However polycythemia is not common among neonates as stated by author , after anemia the commonest haematological issue is thrombocytopenia.  Serum ferritin as an indicator of neonatal anemia  yes  yes  ferritin is a marker of iron stores , can diagnose a state of iron deficiency but how can it be a marker of anemia,  need some references for the above point
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	Need revision in language
Optional/General comments	Can be stated as cross sectional descriptive study instead of prospective study
