This is a very nice paper. I strongly recommend publishing the paper in the present revised form. The merits of the paper are as follows:

1. Some reviewers give comments like "The work is innovative & interesting" or "I see the great impact of the published manuscript on the science".
2. The reviewers' decisions are Accept or minor revision. According to the reviewers' comments, the authors have revised the paper carefully.
3. In the Author's comment area, the authors give feedback appropriately.

I believe that this paper will give great impact on the science. Hence the paper has enough value for publication in the International Astronomy and Astrophysics Research Journal.
