

Editor's Comment:

Following the analysis of the paper and the recommendations of the reviewers, the paper cannot be accepted for publication. The reviewers mentioned that the paper needs major improvement and that some chapters of the paper do not correspond.

The authors did not improve these chapters, and did not use recent references, as mentioned by a reviewer. The tables are not understandable, the abbreviations used are not explained in footnotes. The methodology used has no references, so I request a reviewer.

In conclusion, I do not recommend accepting the paper for publication.
