However, in the current scenario, these issues have already been discussed and are no longer the focus of attention in education. Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes. Only one reference is old (2002), it can be replaced by a more current one.
Minor REVISION comments 1. Is language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	I think so.
Optional/General comments	The topic of study is relevant. The text is clearly written with adequate structure. Considering the use of phenomenology in this research method, I think that the Discussion can be more consistent and comprehensive by presenting other studies that corroborate the findings. For example, given students' difficulties in connection and availability of resources, how could the institution have contributed (providing portable equipment, tablets, devices for internet connection). The difficulty faced by teachers and the need for preparation to plan and teach in the virtual environment. The social issue was well highlighted, but could be further discussed, highlighting the responsibilities of government spheres, the need for public policies aimed at education and educational technologies (improve the quality of programs, provide financial support to students, increase investments in education). Therefore, a more expanded Discussion makes the article more interesting, innovative and, in fact, contributes to advances in reality. Reference suggestions: The first two are just editorials, but interesting to show other aspects in the Discussion approach. https://www.thelancet.com/journals/lancet/article/PIIS0140-6736(21)00142-2/fulltext https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/33205331/ Teachers' Opinions on the Competencies of School Administrators During COVID-19 Outbreak https://files.eric.ed.gov/fulltext/EJ1367817.pdf The others are studies to contribute to the deepening of the Discussion. If you are not
