The manuscript is quite essential for the scientific community. It could add evidence about the inflammasome activation and its mechanism in COVID-19 severity. 2. The title is already suitable. 3. I think it is nice to add the time frame of the article included in the study. The result part needs to explain more about the result of the study, which is about the inflammasome activation and its mechanism, not only about the number of articles included or the area of the articles (discussion section). 4. Subsections and structures are already correct. 5. The manuscript is scientifically correct. 6. The reference is enough to support the data of the manuscript.
