

Editor's Comment:

I have glanced through the revised manuscript (Revised-ms_ARJOM_105967_v1.pdf) and noticed that the following comments as stated in the reviewer's report have not been addressed:

- (a) Introducing concrete examples or applications could enhance the paper's accessibility and aid in illustrating the practical significance of the theoretical findings to a broader audience.
- (b) It would be valuable to contextualize the contributions of this paper by comparing them with existing literature. Highlighting the distinctiveness of the presented results can provide a better understanding of their significance.
- (c) Although three references have been added (total 14), the number of references is still insufficient. Add more references.

Please ensure that the above comments are applied to the manuscript before it can be published. Clearly highlight the changes made in the manuscript as response to the comments.
