

Editor's Comment:

After checking the reviewers' comments and the revision, I can not suggest acceptance of the work at its current version.

In the revised manuscript, I cannot tell what modifications were made, especially, one of the reviewers mentioned that 'The author must added a section related with grapheme derivatives.', but I can not find how did authors address this 'must' do comment.

In authors' response, they should have clearly described how and where in the revision certain comments were addressed. In the revised manuscript, All modifications addressing reviewers' comments must be clearly marked or highlighted.
