

Editor's Comment:

I have read the text of the manuscript, the reviewers' reports, and a revised version of the text of the manuscript.

I consider the topic of the manuscript relevant. The research results have scientific and applied value. At the same time, I had some comments about the text of the manuscript, namely:

1. In the abstract, it is worth mentioning not only the region in which the research took place, but also the country.
2. Authors should check the correctness of the design of their manuscript. In particular, this applies to the design of the names of tables (a period is required, not a colon). Special attention should be paid to the correct design of the names of sections and subsections (numbering, etc.).
3. Please check the text of the manuscript for a reference to Figure 1.
4. I recommend slightly increasing the scope of the conclusion.

Thus, I believe that after taking into account the listed remarks, the document on the topic "Effect of root microbial inoculants and chitosan on growth of Aglaonema (Aglaonema commutatum) cuttings" can be published in the International Journal of Environment and Climate Change.
